II Basis for Jurisdiction

Federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction (limited power). Generally, only two types of cases can be heard in federal court: cases involving a federal question and cases involving diversity of citizenship of the parties. Under 28 U.S.C. § 1331, a case arising under the United States Constitution or federal laws or treaties is a federal question case. Under 28 U.S.C. § 1332, a case in which a citizen of one State sues a citizen of another State or nation and the amount at stake is more than $75,000 is a diversity of citizenship case. In a diversity of citizenship case, no defendant may be a citizen of the same State as any plaintiff.

What is the basis for federal court jurisdiction?

- ✓ Federal question
- ✓ Diversity of citizenship

A. If the Basis for Jurisdiction Is a Federal Question

List the specific federal statutes, federal treaties, and/or provisions of the United States Constitution that are at issue in this case.

- Failure to uphold the Constitution of the United States and preform assigned job functions in a time efficient manner, wasting federal funds that some may view as embezzlement.

B. If the Basis for Jurisdiction Is Diversity of Citizenship

1. The Plaintiff(s)

a. If the plaintiff is an individual

The plaintiff, Scott L. Ballering, is a citizen of the State of Washington.

b. If the plaintiff is a corporation.

2. The Defendant(s)

a. If the defendant is an individual

The defendant, (all federal court judges, employee's & lawyers) are citizens of all States of United States, and others. (foreign nation)

b. If the defendant is a corporation

The defendant, is incorporated under the laws of the State of (name) , and has its principal place of business in the State of (name) . Or is incorporated under the laws of (foreign nation) , and has its principal place of business in (name) .

3. The Amount in Controversy

The amount in controversy—the amount the plaintiff claims the defendant owes or the amount at stake—is more than $75,000, not counting interest and costs of court, because (explain):

Undetermined at this time but more than $75,000 because it spans all federal courts

III. Statement of Claim

Write a short and plain statement of the claim. Do not make legal arguments. State as briefly as possible the facts showing that each plaintiff is entitled to the damages or other relief sought. State how each defendant was involved and what each defendant did that caused the plaintiff harm or violated the plaintiff's rights, including the dates and places of that involvement or conduct. If more than one claim is asserted, number each claim and write a short and plain statement of each claim in a separate paragraph. Attach additional pages if needed.

1. Examination why each federal court's website differs from each other, why some provide contact information in a PDF, some only physical address & phone number, others some emails & physical address & phone number, while others provide no information. Why policies & practices are not consistent from location to location. Why Pro SE is not more automated and consistent across all locations and why contact information "email, name, phone number & address" are not provided at each location. Why some provide "Word" templates and many others do not. Why there is not a free access system for Pro SE cases to allow the plaintiff the ability to follow progress through the process. Why we must shut down a national court system because of a Virus outbreak. Why are there specific court recorders, managers, supervisor for each judge are they used every day? This may breed corruption. Basically why the business of applying the law is not functioning like a productive business should without all the waste currently in the system.

IV Relief

State briefly and precisely what damages or other relief the plaintiff asks the court to order. Do not make legal arguments. Include any basis for claiming that the wrongs alleged are continuing at the present time. Include the amounts of any actual damages claimed for the acts alleged and the basis for these amounts. Include any punitive or exemplary damages claimed, the amounts, and the reasons you claim you are entitled to actual or punitive money damages.

- Everyone be fired and then can reapply for their positions, if hired back then they retain all benefits, compensation and pay grade status after the examination is completed.

- I leave any other relief to the President of the United States or Mr. Trump
- All employees be taught why they need to and how to take pride in their jobs
- All employees where ever possible be cross trained so when extra assistance is needed in one department there is aid for all, they become more versed in the entire legal process and become less bored with repetitive work environments and tasks
- All court costs also be paid by Defendants
